This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

" of	boys	under	16	years		 1,560
" of	girls	"	16	"		 1,341
Total number employés						 36,398

In accordance with the records that were inspected no children were found employed under twelve years of age.

Employment of Children.

The district inspected, including the one hundred and fifty-eight establishments, employed minors under sixteen years of age as follows:

Boys under sixteen years, fifteen hundred and sixty (1560); girls under sixteen years of age, thirteen hundred and forty-one (1341); total, twenty-eight hundred and one (2801).

The act, Chapter 1278, limits the age of minors, which may be employed in any manufacturing and mercantile establishment, to twelve (12) years, said act requiring every person, firm or corporation, employing children, to keep a register in which shall be recorded the name, birth-place, age and place of residence of every person employed under sixteen years of age. I have found that the employers in all the establishments visited, have supplied themselves with record books, and have complied with the act, and the inspector given free access to examine said records at all times.

The employers of children it is found labor under many difficulties in ascertaining the correct ages of children, whose parents or guardian have emigrated from some section of country outside of the State of Rhode Island, and the employer is obliged in many cases to depend upon statements of the parents or guardian in giving the correct age of their children. These parents, in many instances, are inclined to represent their ages to be more than twelve years old, when really they are not twelve. The school certificates are of assistance, and many of the mill proprietors will not employ children unless they are first supplied with the school certificate, and the same is placed on file in their offices.

The act, Chapter 1278, Rhode Island Laws, does not provide for any penalty for false statements made by parents or guardians, with intent to evade the provisions of the act, or for instructing their children to mis-state their ages. The parents or guardians should be held amenable to the act, and subject to a fine when trying to evade any provision of the law.

The states of Massachusetts and Connecticut have laws limiting the age of children employed in factories and other establishments. The Massachusetts law, Chapter 348, Section 1, makes the age limit thirteen years. The Connecticut law, Chapter 106, Section 1753, the age limit is thirteen years, same as State of Massachusetts. Whatever age limit may be established in future in the State of Rhode Island, it should be made more operative by requiring the parent or guardian to furnish a sworn certificate of the birth and age of their children, and the amount of schooling they have received.

Health and Safety.

The average temperature observed during inspections in manufacturing establishments, has been seventy-four degrees, but in some instances the temperature has been noted to be eighty, eighty-four, eighty-eight and ninety degrees, this high temperature depending somewhat upon the nature of work in some of the departments. It may be stated that in the older mills, with quite low ceilings, the temperature is not so easily regulated as in modern built mills, high studded rooms. Many mills have appliances for regulating the conditions of temperature and moisture, where weaving and spinning is conducted, making it far less oppressive to the employés.

In operating machinery in factories, while the same may be carefully guarded against accident, so far as practicable by the proprietor, it requires caution on the part of the operatives to avoid injury, and in many establishments the proprietors have been to considerable expense to procure the best obtainable appliances for the protection of machinery and elevators for the protection and comfort of employés.

Sanitary Conditions and Ventilation.

I have given much attention to the sanitary conditions of factories and workshops in my district. I have had occasion to give several orders for additional water closets to be put in where required. Old and unventilated closets have been replaced by modern and well ventilated ones, in some instances. I have found in a few instances extra good ventilation in water closets, by the use of power exhaust fans.

I have observed in my inspections that there is great difficulty in always keeping the closets in that condition of cleanliness that they should be in, owing to the indifference of many of the operatives, and it requires a constant watch of the overseers to see that they are kept in as good condition as practicable, where there is a large number of operatives employed in any one establishment. The sanitary appliances of factories and workshops are often put in good condition with the expectation they will remain so, but in their use I find the employés too often fail to second the efforts of the employer.

In sanitary matters in factories and workshops in the State of Rhode Island, where the present factory law has been in force only a few months, I look for much improvement, as the manufacturers in general are observing the act relating to sanitary conditions, and their desire seems to be to do all that is possible to remedy evils, and promptly comply with any reasonable recommendation made to them, is very gratifying to the inspector.

In recently constructed factories in the State, everything has been done to make a perfect system of sanitary conditions. In the older factories in the State, of which there are many, the sanitary conditions and ventilation are much poorer, owing largely to construction, being built low studded, with floor space less for the employé, and not so well lighted or as airy.

Elevators.

A careful inspection of elevators has been made. The openings of the elevator wells have been found properly protected by self-closing hatches, gates, bars and doors. The general rule observed in manufacturing establishments where elevators are in use is that one person is detailed to operate the elevator, and no other employé is allowed to operate them, and notices posted to that effect.

Accidents.

The law, Chapter 1278, requiring written notices to be sent to the inspectors of all accidents occurring in manufacturing establishments, by the owner or superintendent, has been complied with in my district in five instances, but no very serious accidents have been reported. No fatal accidents have occurred to my knowledge in the district I have inspected.

Recommendations.

I have found it necessary to make but few recommendations, such as boxing belting, covering for gears, and more cleanly condition of water closets, in several different factories, given verbally, written notice not being required, and in every instance compliance in accordance with requests was made.

Posting Act.—Chapter 1278.

A printed copy of the act has been posted in every factory and workshop where persons are employed who are affected by the act. Many proprietors have caused the printed act to be framed, under glass protection, to preserve them from being soiled.

Respectfully submitted,

ELISHA H. ROCKWELL,

Factory Inspector, State of Rhode Island.
